

Transforming Care in Bedfordshire, Luton and Milton Keynes

Transforming Care in England is about making sure that care is safe. It helps to keep people out of hospital so that they can live happy and healthy lives

Who is included?

We want to make services better for people who have a learning disability and behaviour that challenges

They may be adults or children

They might have autism or a mental health illness

I have a lot more freedom here

I have left hospital I am doing a lot more things for myself

In the past I needed a lot of support

I don't need help from anyone really

I'm pretty independent now

Why are we making changes?

In 2011, a television programme showed how some people with learning disabilities were badly treated at a hospital

This hospital was called Winterbourne View

There was an investigation into what happened and reports have been written about how to make services better.

Part of this includes making community services better and using less hospital beds. These changes are called Transforming Care.

What is happening here?

We want to have fewer hospital admissions for people with a learning disability and/or autism

And to make good plans for people to leave hospital when the time is right for them

We are building better services to support people

So they can live in the best place for them in their community

What are we going to do?

Improve the quality of care and people's quality of life

Keep people safe while they carry on their lives as normal in their communities

Work with people and their carers to support them in their decisions about their care and health services

Improve people's health and have fewer people go to hospital

What do we want to do?

Improve services that help you to express your views. These are called advocacy services

Improve support for carers.

Improve services that help with universal welfare

Provide better education and training for carers and others

To make sure we are doing the right things we will

Keep talking to people and hold events to keep people involved

How long will it take?

There are lots of things to do. Some things will happen soon and others will take longer. We will be finished in March 2019.
